

Staycation

Lacey Maloney & Chantel Oakley

“What is it?”

Instead of leaving town for vacation, this is a night or weekend where your children go and stay at someone else’s home. You and your spouse have the house to yourselves to do whatever you want!

“Why?”

A great reminder of why you fell in love in the first place. Leisure time to reconnect and decompress from the stresses of life (a.k.a. Children)

“How much does it cost?”

Next to nothing! Depending on whether you decide to pay the person watching your children or just switch with another couple, this vacation is cheap!

“What to do on your staycation?”

Anything you want to do! No curfew, no time constraints, and best of all, no responsibility. You’ll be amazed at how clean your house stays or how nice a dinner at home can be. You could also eat meals out. With all the cash you’re saving from not leaving town, you’re free to do lots of fun stuff (movies, shopping, walking on the rims, bike rides, etc.).
